NEW FORM OF FLYING
BOAT HULL EVOLVEDType Developed by Experiments of Naval Constructor Richardson Can Land Without Any Shock.

TO SUPERSEDE PRESENT STYLE

As a result of recent experiments conducted by a member of the advisory committee on the Landley aerodynamic laboratory of the Smithsonian Institution, a new form of flying-boat hull has been evolved, which appears to have decided advantages over the types now in use.

These experiments were made by Naval Constructor H. C. Richardson, U. S. N., of the Landley laboratory, chairman of the subcommittee on hydroaerodynamics in relation to aerodynamics, at the model basin of the Washington Navy Yard. Several model hulls were used, some of which represented the different types of naval hulls now in use, one a model of the Curtiss pontoon, and others obtained through changes and improvements in standard forms. They were one-ninth full size, except the Curtiss model, which was one-fourth actual size, and were tested both on the surface of the water and submerged one foot.

In his report Naval Constructor Richardson has shown by diagrams and tables the advantages and disadvantages of the various types, as well as the plan, side and end views of five models.

Further experiments are under way for the determination of the stream line flow about submerged models, as a means of improving the form, and otherwise to perfect the standard type most advantageous for all purposes. Comparisons of the model results and the actual performance of full-sized machines show that a fair analogy exists, confirming the behavior of the models under experiment. Actual experiments with a full-sized machine shows the hollow V section very desirable because of the good landing qualities, as landings which would otherwise stress the machine badly have been made without any shock.

PRESIDENT DEPLORES WAR LOSS

Sympathizes with Man Who Lost Brother at Vera Cruz.

President Wilson yesterday sent a letter to L. W. Summerlin, of Willacooche, Ga., sympathizing with him in the loss of his brother at Vera Cruz. The President's letter read:

"My attention has just been called to your correspondence with the Atlanta Journal regarding the death of your brother at Vera Cruz. It has moved me very much. It rings so true and has such a genuine note of patriotism in it and the deep feeling which makes citizenship in this country so noble a thing.

No one was more distressed than I at the loss of life at Vera Cruz and I sympathize with you and your father and brothers most deeply. It is the more gratifying to find the noble spirit in which you take the loss because I know that it must have cost you to lose a gallant brother like yours. Cordially and sincerely yours,

(Signed) "WOODROW WILSON."

COMMITTEE NOT AGREED ON TOLLS REPEAL ACT

Fight Will Be Transferred to Senate Floor This Week When Report Is Made.

The Senate Committee on Intercommerce Canals struggled all day yesterday in an effort to reach an agreement on the form of report they will submit on the bill to repeal the exemption clause in the Panama Canal tolls act. The fight over free tolls will be transferred to the Senate floor this week when the committee reports.

The committee appears to be either evenly divided on the tolls repeal bill, or a slight majority in opposition to repeal.

Senator O'Grady claimed yesterday that the free tolls advocates had a decided majority in the committee.

Two amendments were considered yesterday, either of which may be added to the bill when it is reported. Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, would add an amendment to the bill providing that the passage of the act is not to be construed as waiving or impairing any right possessed by the United States.

Senator Walsh has an amendment in the nature of a substitute, which would not repeal the free tolls, but would permit foreign ship owners who feel aggrieved to bring a suit against the United States and go to the Supreme Court of the United States for a construction of the treaty.

Wellesley Alumni Give Up Luncheon to Swell College Fund.

Instead of holding an annual luncheon this year, the members of the Washington Wellesley Club yesterday agreed to contribute the usual amount spent for the luncheon toward the rebuilding fund of Wellesley College.

The members were entertained by Mrs. Hughes, wife of Justice Hughes, at her home in Sixteenth street. Miss MacDonald told of the erection of temporary structures to take the place, for the present, of College Hall, destroyed by fire, March 17, and Miss Spaulding and Miss Campbell were appointed to forward Washington contributions to the permanent rebuilding fund.

'LIBEL ON TAXPAYERS,'
SAYS HENRY L. WESTFormer Commissioner Denies District
People Are Trying to Dodge Just Taxation as Charged.

SPEAKS BEFORE HOME CLUB

"It is libel on the taxpayers of the District to say that they are underassessed and dodging just taxation," declared Henry L. West, former District Commissioner, in an address at the Home Club of the Department of the Interior last night, where a meeting was held for the discussion of modern taxation methods.

"Statistics that have been prepared to show how the District is 'evading' taxation," went on Mr. West, "have not taken into account the difference in property conditions in this city as compared with others. According to taxation under the Progression act, the District is assessed at the full 100 per cent, pay a share amounting to more than the people of Washington would be expected to pay. And Washington is not one of the George or most populous cities, and has no manufacturing or large business interests to make its property so extraordinarily valuable.

"I do not believe the people of the United States desire to be relieved of their share of the support of the National Capital and place the entire burden of upkeep and improvement on the city itself. We make certain definite sacrifices for the privilege of living in the District, and it would be unfair to both the country and us to make the improvement or upkeep of the city depend entirely on the very small proportion of the country's citizens who live in it. We would be unable to keep, unaided, the city in such condition as the country demands of its representative metropolis."

W. L. Swanton, of the Tax Reform Society, gave a series of lantern slide charts and views of the city's assessment problems and taxation methods. He showed by figures compiled from authentic sources that the small home owner is paying an unfair proportion of the District taxes.

Everett J. Brown, real estate expert, explained the single tax, its advantages, and the unfair features of the present system from a new angle.

SUFFRAGISTS BUSY WITH PARADE PLANS

Headquarters of Congressional Union Is Decked Like a Flower Shop as Members Prepare Garlands.

With dozens of workers putting the finishing touches on the beautiful garlands of flowers for the procession on May 9, headquarters of the Congressional Union presents a gay and bustling scene. Thousands of roses and miles of ribbons have been turned out by the nimble fingers of the busy band. There is not an idle soul in the whole Congressional Union.

Every member of the Washington branch is working on some committee to make May 9 memorable in the annals of the Capital, while the members of the union over the country are lending their aid to the May 2 demonstration, and as far as possible to support the work in Washington by coming to march in the procession.

All the plans for the Belasco mass meeting are now complete. One of the four bands which will accompany the marchers will be stationed inside of the theater for the mass meeting, playing the "March of the Women." The stage will be banked with spring flowers, carrying out the colors of the Congressional Union—purple, white and gold.

The speeches by Mrs. Thomas N. Hepburn, of Hartford, president of the Congress Woman Suffrage Association; Mrs. Donald Hooker, of Baltimore, president of the Just Government League of Maryland; and Miss Lucy Burns, vice president of the Congressional Union, will bear directly upon the Bristow-Mondell resolution, for which the mass meeting and the whole procession has been organized.

HAIR WOULD FALL
BY HANDFULS

Scalp Covered with Dandruff. Itching so Intense Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Completely Cured. Now Has Long Hair.

P. O. Box 46, Clinton, La.—"I had the malaria fever and lost all my hair. My head would itch me terribly and the scalp would be covered with dandruff. It looked precisely like corn meal and could be washed off. The itching was so intense I couldn't sleep at night. I would scratch until my head was sore all over and my hair would fall by handfuls.

"I used shampoos and lotions without effect. About one month later I bought a cake of Cuticura soap and then sent and bought a box of Cuticura Ointment. I used the Cuticura Soap with warm water and gave my hair a good shampoo and used a light application of the Cuticura Ointment. Relief was almost instantaneous. I used three boxes of Cuticura Ointment and the Cuticura Soap to complete my cure. I now have a full head of long hair (regained) Mrs. Laura A. Green, June 14, 1912.

In selecting a toilet soap why not procure one possessing delicate emollient properties sufficient to allay minor irritations, remove redness and roughness, prevent pore-clogging, soften and smooth the skin conditions, and promote skin and scalp health generally? Such a soap, combined with the purest of saponaceous ingredients and most fragrant and refreshing of flower odors, is Cuticura Soap. Cuticura Soap is a light application of the Cuticura Ointment. Gas Light Company Opens Cooking Demonstrations at Brookland.

The housewives, actual and prospective, of Brookland, were shown how their work may be made easier and pleasanter by the use of modern types of gas ranges, gas irons, water heaters, coffee urns, toasters, and the like, at the demonstration under auspices of the Washington Gas Light Company, which opened in Macarrie Hall, Brookland, last night.

Mrs. Mary Harris Horro, cookery expert with the company, showed how the nature of a substitute, which would not repeal the free tolls, but would permit foreign ship owners who feel aggrieved to bring a suit against the United States and go to the Supreme Court of the United States for a construction of the treaty.

COUPON BILL POSTPONED.

House Committee Votes to Delay Consideration of Tobacco Premiums.

By a vote of eleven to eight the Committee on Ways and Means decided to postpone until next winter further consideration of the Underwood bill levying a tax of 2 cents each on coupons and gifts given with purchases of tobacco products. Denial was made that the decision of the committee was a victory for the so-called "retail tobacco trust." They explained that the committee was impelled to defer action until opportunity could be given for a careful inquiry into the coupon system generally in use in many lines of the merchandise trade.

The vote in committee was taken after a lively row in which the opposition to the bill, led by Representative Garner, of Texas, made the argument that the measure obviously was aimed at one industry.

Denial also was made by supporters of the bill that it was proposed as an anti-trust measure. They declared that the coupon system should pay a revenue to the government and that they would make no objection if the measure was amended so as to apply to all trades that give premiums in this form. Mr. Garner moved that further consideration of the bill be postponed until the December session and this was carried.
